York Financial Chronicle, of the 21st inst., remarks:

"This significant confirmation of the views we expressed last week relative to the high estimation in which our securities are held, and of the growing preference among European capitalists to invest in them, has had its natural result in this market; and, notwith standing the cholera scare of the past week, a general advance has been developed, which apparently is only the beginning of a new and decided upward turn. In the presence of this rapid improvement in the Government credit it is beginning to be a frequent subject of discussion whether a 5 per cent bond of the United States will not self for par in the market before the time arrives when the Seven-thirties will mature and be fundable into 6 per cent Five-twenty bonds. This opinion has become so widely diffused and so firmly held that, in connection with other circumstances, both in Seven-thirty notes and in Tenforty 5 per cent long bonds. The most important cause of all, however, is the revival of public confidence since the passage of the loan bill, and the practical declaration of Mr. Mcallach's inancial volice. The Mr. McCalloch's financial policy, general belief seems to be that for ral months to come he neither will or can do anything which shall paralyze can do anything which shall paralyze business, or produce any monetary spash, but that, on the contrary, as far as the Treasury movements can conduce to that end he will keep the money market easy, and allow the financial machinery of the country to run as complicated and paralyzed the spassion of the country to run as complicated and paralyzed the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as complicated the spassion of the country to run as conditions and the spassion of the country to run as the run as the country to run as the country to run as the run a equally and uninterruptedly as possiincertitude on these points which, for some time past, have prejudiced business and impeded commerce is now, therefore, succeeded by a buoyant confidence; and a marked activity of general business has been the natural result. Americans are peculiar in one thing, they will sing a song to death. In our brief existence we can read many instances of the kind. We remember how often "Old Dan Tucker" was taunted with being too late for his evening mah," (we owe Susannah a weighty debt) and how entransingly we alluded to the eyes of "Denrest May," those orbs that rendered midnight intirely superfluous. For a long time "The Poor Old Slave," was allowed little repose, although he had ostensibly "gone to rest." "The Old Folks at Home," ere ruthlessly torn from that quiet Capital at Buckhannon insures its location.

The Newspaper.

From the North American Review for April.

It is plain that journalism will henceforth and forever be an important and crowded profession in the United States. A Good Substitute for Paint

For the benefit of our readers, both For the benefit of our readers, both in the city and the country, we publish the following recipe for making a wash for fences and out-buildings, which is said to look almost as well as paint. We quote from the Chemical Gazette: "Take a clean water-tight barrel, or other cultable cash and put into it a other suitable cask, and put into it a half bushel of lime. Slack it by pourhalf bushel of lime. Slack it by pouring boiling water over it, and in sufficient quantity to cover five inches deep, stirring it briskly till thoroughly slacked. When slacking has been effected, dissolve in water, and add two pounds of sulphate of zine and one of common sult. These will cause the wash to harden and prevent it cracking,

Divorces are now called "segregation." A woman segregates from her husband. Matrimony, we suppose, is integration.

It will be remembered that after the surrender of Gen. Lee, the military in Georgia captured $100,000 in gold, which was claimed by the Farmers', the Richmond, and the Bank of Virginia. Recent investigations of the facts show, however, that a few days before the evacuation, the Legislature of Virginia passed a law authorizing the said banks tegration.

It is a sad truth, and one to be heeded, that the women who to-day ordain the prevailing mode in Paris, are not the women whom it is sweet or wise to imitate.

M. About says of an avaricious man, that "it had been proved that after having kindled his fire, he stuck a cork in the end of his bellows to save the little wind that was left in them."

A western paper announces that a "cow was struck by lightning and instantly killed, belonging to the village physician, who had a beautiful califour days old."
